

Massive Public Deception

Contrail is a term used to describe the trails made in the sky by aircraft exhaust moisture forming ice-crystals under very-humid, very-cold conditions. Modern fan-jets produce relatively little exhaust moisture, thus genuine contrails are rare occurrences that quickly evaporate becoming invisible. There is a massive disinformation campaign to deceive the public into believing that the deliberately jet-sprayed particulate trails are harmless contrails.

World renown physician Dietrich Klinghardt, M.D., Ph.D., in the video links below, describes the allegation that Disney Studios paid a producer 60 million US$ to add images of particulate trails into archive movies to deceive the public. Presumably, disinformation agents have made contracts with other studios for the same purpose.
